EXHIBITION POSTERS

Here is another idea from our Stamp Club Service Bureau. Every stamp show or exhibition should be well advertised if you hope to gain the attention of the public. The cost of handsome posters is usually prohibitive for many clubs and that is where LINPRINTS' Stamp Club Service Bureau steps in and solves a problem for your stamp club.

Here are handsome illustrated posters 11 x 16 inches in size, printed in two colors and with a large and attractive picture of a postage stamp. These posters can not fail to attract attention and the wording on them is such that they can be used for any stamp show or exhibition.

We have four attractive designs each showing a different stamp and you can buy them in small or large quantities at a price your printer could not touch.

Ample space is provided at the bottom of the poster for imprinting the name of the club giving the exhibition, the place at which the exhibition is to be held and the date of the exhibition. We quote prices for this imprinting or you can have it done locally if you prefer.

If you use one design of the poster this year you can use a different design next year. You can however, have them assorted, some of each design if you wish.

Here are the subjects:

SPAIN — The Goya Stamp.
AUSTRALIA — Air Mail Stamp.
NYASSA — Giraffes.
EGYPT — Medical Congress Stamp.

These posters can be hung in store windows and in schools by the use of small pieces of gummed paper at the upper corners.

PRICE LIST — POSTPAID

Food For Thought

HOW many times have you and I wandered among the frames at an exhibition to be brought up short before a display that caused us to exclaim:

"By George, there's an idea! Why didn't I think to work up a little specialized collection along that line a few years ago when the price was still within my reach?"

Oh, you and I have done it and then condemned ourselves because we couldn't seem to think of something original, as well as interesting, to develop in our album. No, more's the pity, we have gone on following the orthodox trend of accumulating what most everybody else has and then informing the club exhibition committee that we have nothing to display or to talk about.

So here's a tip, give it some consideration before you pass it by. Why not give a whirl to the 1928 and 1929-31 issues of Newfoundland? The possibilities in these three issues—so closely related as to necessitate collecting all—are sufficient to satisfy any yearning for something different.

The Standard Catalogue hits the high spots in differentiating between the original and re-engraved stamps but does not go into the minor varieties found in each issue. Despite the fact certain values seem to have been drained from post offices by speculators, prices of the stamps have not appreciated too rapidly to be out of reach for many thousands of collectors.

For much of the technical information offered here we are indebted to the study of these issues made by A. E. Ginn. But five of the fifteen stamps in the original issue are passed over as offering no varieties of importance although it is more than possible that discoveries have been made that have not come to our attention. These values are the 4, 5, 9, 12 and 15-cent which may give budding specialists enough difficulty in the way of getting decently centered copies. The 4, 9 and 12-cent, in particular, seem to have been handled recklessly in the perforating process.

1-cent

Map of Newfoundland and Labrador. In 1927 some 110,000 square miles of Labrador was awarded to Newfoundland as the climax of years of wrangling over possession of the peninsula by Newfoundland and Quebec. Two shades—green and dark green—are found on this stamp. A colored dot sometimes appears in the right hand value circle.

2-cent

The S.S. Caribou, operated by the Newfoundland Railway for passenger and freight service between Port aux Basques, western terminus of the railway, and North Sydney, eastern end of the Canadian National Railway. Carmine and bright carmine are the shades.

3-cent

Portraits of King George V and Queen Mary. Brown and pale brown are noted.

4-cent

Former King Edward VIII, then Prince of Wales.

5-cent

An express train crossing Newfoundland. The narrow gauge line covers nearly 600 miles between St. John's and Port aux Basques.

6-cent

The Newfoundland Hotel. Although a private enterprise, the Newfoundland government guaranteed the bonds providing funds for this hotel as a part of its tourist policy. The building is at St. John's. Defective letters are found in the word NEWFOUNDLAND on this stamp.

8-cent

A view of Heart's Content, the headquarters of the Western Union Telegraph Company in that country. The first trans-Atlantic cable was landed at this point in 1866. The stamp offers a number of minor varieties. The "I" of "landed" sometimes leans to the right and the "I" of "1866" is often defective.

9-cent

Cabot Tower. Constructed as a memorial to the discoverer of Newfoundland on the occasion of the 400th anniversary of John Cabot's arrival at St. John's. This is one of the historic spots of the new world for it was in this tower in 1901 that Marconi received the first trans-Atlantic wireless signal and later from the same location the first trans-Atlantic telephone conversation was accomplished. The tower is on Signal Hill overlooking the harbor of the town.

10-cent

National War Memorial. Unveiled by the late Earl Haig in 1924, the memorial stands on King's Beach at St. John's where Sir Humphrey Gilbert, in 1583, took possession of New Found Land for Queen Elizabeth. Purple and violet are the 10-cent shades. Purple comes on perforation 14; violet on 13½ by 12¾.

12-cent

General Post Office at St. John's.

15-cent

Vickers-Vimy plane in which Sir John Alcock and Sir Arthur Whitten Brown made the first non-stop trans-Atlantic crossing. The ship is seen leaving Lester's Field at St. John's as it took off on the 1919 flight.

20-cent

Newfoundland's House of Parliament at St. John's. Perforations 13½ x 12¾ and 14.

30-cent

Grand Falls of Labrador. The falls are greater than Niagara and the stamp design was adapted from a photograph by Varick Frissell, an American explorer. Pale sepia and deep sepia are the shades.

So much for some of the high points of that first issue, more will come to light for anyone who devotes himself to a study of these designs.

re-engravings it is necessary to explain that the first issue was produced by Whitehead, Morris & Company, Ltd., of London, who held a contract with the Newfoundland government. This contract expired the following year and as some of the 1928 issue was exhausted and new supplies were badly needed, Newfoundland ordered more stamps—but not from the Whitehead firm. The order went to John Dickinson & Company which failed to obtain the old dies from Whitehead and was compelled to do its own engraving.

Now a word about certain shortages in the first issue which are reflected today in catalogue quotations.

The "publicity issue," as it was called, was to have been placed on general sale Jan. 1, 1928, but it was discovered that so many of the then current pictorial stamps were in stock that it would be best to delay sale of the new issue until the old stamps had been sold. Accordingly the "publicity issue" was placed in the wholesale department of the post office and sold only in complete sets for a time. Jan. 3 is given as first day of sale.

Stocks of the 9-cent denomination were the first to disappear. It was not an important value so far as fitting postage rates was concerned and it was not reprinted. Within a year English catalogues had jumped the price of the 9-cent to $1.25 and the 1932 Standard Catalogue pulled it up to $2.50. The 12-cent stamp was the next to fade away and it now ranks second to the 9-cent in price.

The 14-cent stamp appeared in August of 1928 and the 28-cent became available in November of that year, completing the set of fifteen.

The Dickinson re-engravings of this set are described in the Standard Catalogue. A geographical error on the 1-cent value was corrected and the portraits are better done than in the originals. Too, the stamps appeared on thicker and softer paper in sheets of 100 and the gum was thick, yellow and unevenly applied.

Dickinson was expected to deliver the new printing in August of 1929 but because the shipment was a few days late and supplies of the current 3-cent stamp were exhausted, the Newfoundland Post Office Department resorted to a surcharge. Approximately 100,000 copies of the 6-cent stamp of the 1923 set were reduced to 3 cents value by the local application of a surcharge. Speculators bought heavily and succeeded in accumulating many thousands of copies although restrictions were placed on the sale and no person was supposed to obtain more than twenty-five copies of the stamp.

These surcharges account for some of the Newfoundland rarities.

The Dickinson re-engraved stamps are found with two types of perforation for most values, one clean cut, the other quite rough. The chief variations in the second set seem to be shades although the Standard Catalogue lists one double impression on the 1-cent value. A third issue on watermarked paper completes this collection.

The above references are but hints of what is to be found in the "publicity issue" for the collector who will apply himself to its study.

Brundige Opens Branch

In order to be able to give more personal attention to mail orders, J. Merritt Brundige is opening new offices at 9 South Union street, Cambridge, N. Y., a short distance from Albany, and where the company will attend to mail orders only. At the Albany, N. Y., address he will continue to serve counter trade as usual. Will readers after this please send their mail orders to the Cambridge address, or when in Albany drop in and see Brundige, who writes it is always a big thrill for him to meet customers he has served through the mail. Visitors from places as far away as New Zealand, a number from Great Britain, two from California, four from Florida, and a number from New York City and other cities within a few hundred miles, met Mr. Brundige last summer.

News of the Week

One of our contemporaries repeats a little story that was first printed by an English newspaper concerning a New Zealander who came in for the Coronation. The visitor mailed a large parcel home and, thinking to salvage the postage cost used, in part, some 2-pound British stamps on the package. "British 2-pound stamps are very rare in New Zealand," the story related.

We might go even further and state that these stamps are very rare in England inasmuch as none of that denomination has ever been printed.

Market comment from the Mint Sheet Brokerage Company: "Wisconsin, Yorktowns and Kosciuskos active at prevailing levels. Jubilees continue in demand from the right sources. U. S. supplies of these popular stamps drying up. Coronations eased a little further with fair demand. Tipex active. All exhibition sheets continue in demand."

The Columbus Philatelic Club has just undertaken to supply seventeen youngsters in the Children's Hospital here with stamps and collecting equipment. There appears to be a strong trend toward helping crippled and other unfortunate children and we can think of no finer activity for any club.

The second annual meeting of Eastern Naval Cover Collectors is to be held at New Haven, Conn., Nov. 7. All collectors in that section are invited to the program and dinner.

An indication of the immense popularity of exhibition and miniature postage sheets in Europe is a new buying list of a prominent Swiss dealer which has reached this country. The dealer lists the sheets in which he is interested and the price he will pay. Prices in some instances are higher than the retail quotations in this country and virtually all offers are within a few cents of prices asked by Americans.

After an exceedingly heavy run of press news from the Post Office Department last week in which information concerning the final check up on the three remaining Territory issues was made public, the department crawled into its shell and from all indications the official stamp news until the first of the year will be scant.

Nothing is new concerning the Trans-Atlantic first mail flight, but it has been reliably reported that the conference, originally set for Ottawa sometime this month, may be postponed until a later date, with the meeting to take place here in the nation's capital.

HOMER W. DAVIS

19 Harrison St. Melrose Highlands, Mass.

The meeting under these circumstances would be under the jurisdiction of the State Department, with officials of the bureau of aeronautics of the Department of Commerce taking care of all the technical sessions relative to the proposed flight of interest to Uncle Sam. The Post Office Department would stand by, as it were, until the details would be ironed out between aeronautics and state, with the foreign powers.

The air ministries of Canada, Great Britain and Ireland, together with the officials of the foreign offices and post ministries of these nations, would also sit in session, which the last two groups named in more or less muted roles, similar to that of the U. S. Post Office.

From all indications, now, the first flight, which was planned to be ready for November, will undoubtedly be postponed until sometime the first of the year.

With the placing on "the market" the Constitutional Sesquicentennial commemorative and the heavy purchase of the S. P. A. 10-cent souvenir sheets, the Philatelic Agency enjoyed an unusual business during September. According to official figures just released total sales at the agency amounted to $311,687.13.

It is interesting to note what the sales turnover will be during October and November when collectors will make their final purchases of the rapidly diminishing S. P. A. sheets, and the coming Territory series.

It is surprising to me that the 25-cent blue Clippers are still on sale, and I look for a close-out on these in the very near future. When the new Trans-Pacific were issued last Spring, it was believed that the 25-centers would soon go off sale. How much longer they'll last is hard to say. P. O. officials will not reveal the amount of stock on hand of any adhesive.

Robert E. Fellers, chief, Division of Stamps, departed (Oct. 4) for Honolulu, where he will supervise the first day sale of the Hawaii stamp. Ortho Rogers, philatelic agent, left Oct. 8 for Juneau to handle the first day sale supervision work relative to the Alaska adhesive. No arrangements have been made as yet for P. O. supervisors for first day sales at Puerto Rico or the Virgin Islands.

Victor S. McCloskey is the designer of the Alaska stamp. William B. Wells engraved the lettering on this adhesive, while C. T. Arlt is responsible for the illustration engraving.

George Sturgeon has been elected president of the Columbus Philatelic Club. Mr. Sturgeon specializes in used blocks of United States.

Honor to Sibert

Honoring Brig. Gen. William Luther Sibert, the Canal Zone has issued a new 14-cent blue stamp of simple, but attractive, design. The subject of this latest act of merited philatelic homage was the builder of the Gatun Locks. He served on the canal commission for many years, then was first commander of the 1st Division of the A.E.F. It is eminently fitting that he should be included in the stamp portrait gallery of Panama Canal constructors with Gorgas, Goethals, Hodges, Rousseau and Jackson Smith—none of whom should be forgotten.—The Washington Star.

FRANCE

The lower priced items are a permanent stock. Scott's 1938 catalogue numbers are used throughout. Collectors with older catalogues should note the following 1938 cat. number changes: Airpost stamps now start at #551, Semi-postals start #701, Newspaper #951, Military #981, Postage Dues 1001. An asterisk (*) means the stamp is unused; others are used.

CONTEST RESULTS Considering DISAPPOINTING that more than 1,000 artists took part in the contest for postage designs, sponsored by a division of the Treasury Department, we do not find ourselves particularly enthusiastic over the winning designs reproduced in this magazine last week. The first award seemed a bit too close to the British Edward VIII style to be adopted by the United States which ought, at least, stick to its distinctive line engraved art for general postage. The second award, we are certain, would never be accepted by the Post Office Department as a model design. We are still wondering if that arch-critic of the government artists, James Montgomery Flagg, submitted a design in this contest. Mr. Flagg will be remembered as having spoken quite plainly not so long ago upon the subject of art and postage stamps.

MISINFORMATION The misinformation FOR COLLECTORS

The misinformation sent out by some stamp dealers in the hope of leading collectors into speculation is not only regrettable but little short of deserving a mighty ugly word. Most men connected with the publishing and selling end of the hobby are making an effort to keep the collector informed of facts and to discourage tendencies to wrap up hard earned money in quantities of stamps with the avowed purpose of making an easy and magnificent profit.

But listen to this bunk which was released under date of Oct. 4 in a small house organ of dealers who have preached consistently that it is possible to make $20,000 a year in the stamp market although there is a pronounced lack of evidence that these particular dealers are making anywhere near that figure:

WANTED—$15,000.00 FOR 10c PARK PANES

Approximately 1,500,000 panes of the 10c Park have not as yet been sold from the 5,000,000 printed. These represent a cash purchase of only $15,000. A profit of $5,000 might be made from such a purchase within a month's time. The stamps are always good for postage, therefore your original investment of $15,000 is "safe." And a chance for an increase in price is a 99 to 1 shot. Who has $15,000 to invest?

The Tipex sheets created a speculative orgy seldom witnessed. There were 5,000,000 Tipex sheets printed; the same number as the 10c Park panes. If the Tipex were a good investment, the Parks will be also.

In the first place the above item is incorrect in that the official government figures on TIPEX is 2,809,039 sheets. In the second place 1,500,000 sheets of the 10-cent Park souvenir have a face value of $150,000 and hardly could be purchased from the government for $15,000. In the third place, prior to publication of this highly misinformative article, an order for the printing of an additional 5,000,000 10-cent Park sheets was announced. In the fourth place we feel for the poor devil whose only protection of a $15,000 investment is the fact that he can use it as postage—unless he is a member of the firm of Montgomery Ward & Company.

If collectors will just use the old brain a little they can figure out for themselves the slim possibilities of making money in any type of speculation—postage stamps included.

British Overprints

The signing in Paris the week of Aug. 7 of an Anglo-French convention, providing for the abrogation of foreign capitulations in the French zone of Morocco, signaled the end of British postal agencies at Casablanca, Marrakesh, Mazagan and Safi, Morocco, which took place on Aug. 14.

This will, undoubtedly, cause an increased interest in British stamps overprinted for use in the French zone of Southern Morocco, and may cause a shortage of some values, as correspondence reaching those places after Aug. 14 is being delivered by the Shereefian Post Office, prepaid at the international rate of postage. —KenMore Kollector.

FORUM

Just got my Territory first day envelopes today. They were so surprisingly nice I felt as though I should give you a bouquet. Have collected stamps for more than thirty-five years, covers the last five or six years. Shopped around quite a bit for my printer of first day envelopes and take pride in them. So a firm has got to be pretty good to get this praise out of me. M. L. Nichols, Los Angeles, Calif.

BAHRAIN

No! I am not raving of the weather but of this new British Colony in the Persian Gulf. These stamps are seldom offered. Postally used.

A Change in Editorship

WITH this issue of Linn's Weekly Stamp News I turn back to George W. Linn editorship of the magazine and ask that all my friends give to him that support they have so generously given to me in recent months. Resumption of the editorial duties will not be a new task to Mr. Linn. He is a veteran philatelic editor while I have scarcely passed the amateur ranks in this type of work.

The association with Mr. Linn and the other members of the firm here at Linprint has been a pleasant experience that I will long remember. I leave with regret, for "the boss" and I had that happy combination of dispositions that get along well in good times and bad. This was my first venture into the magazine publishing field and I can look back now and see the helping hands that aided my faltering footsteps. Yes, everyone has been most kind to me and I only hope that I will sometime be in position to return those kindnesses.

The growth of this magazine has been phenomenal. It is the talk of stamp collecting and stamp dealing circles throughout the country. If ever a man deserved that his business should prosper it is Mr. Linn. He is one of the hardest working individuals I have met and that this magazine should bring to him a comfortable livelihood is but a just reward for the long hours of toil, the mental energy expended on new ideas and the courage to plug through a major business depression that licked men of less determination. It should be but a matter of months until Linn's Weekly Stamp News has the greatest paid circulation of any periodical of its type and those of you who read it week by week may feel that you constantly are paying a tribute to the man who established it nine years ago.

Personal letters from my correspondents should hereafter be addressed to 1401 Jule street, St. Joseph, Mo. All other mail intended for the editor of this magazine should be addressed to Mr. Linn here in Columbus.

Adios. It has been nice to know you all.

—Don Houseworth.

New Stamps Arrive

The new Canal Zone Sibert stamp has reached the United States and because it is generally pleasing in design and because it is a tribute to one of the canal builders it should find a ready demand. Cuba's new sugar stamps, too, have arrived on cover. These are most unusual in that each stamp bears two designs, separated by a diagonal line.

Sept. 28-29 saw the dedication of Arrasmith airport at Grand Island, Nebr., and the capped a real beauty. . . Buena Vista, Ga., reported dedicated on June 11. . . Grand Rapids, Mich., reported dedication of Otis Lodge airport in July, who can confirm? . . . 257 covers reported for Superior, Wisc., on Aug. 21, too many got fooled on the first batch and it was peculiar—why didn't they hold them when it rained? . . . Escanaba, Mich., reports 1038 covers mailed but only 76 air mail, must be something wrong. . . McAlester, Okla., reports 200 for dedication on July 10.

St. Augustine, Gainesville, Pensacola, Roca Raton, Deland, Lake City, Fort Pierce, Stuart, Lake Worth, Clewiston, Belle Glade, and Pahokee have been reported for the All-Florida Air Mail flight.

Air Commerce Bulletin says: New airport at Culver, Ind., municipal, two and one-half miles northeast. Albuquerque, N. M., new airport still under construction.

RETAIL LIST NUMBER 12

FALL 1937

To Our Customers:

We are presenting herewith a comprehensive listing of our B.N.A. stock. This list indicates the scope of our stock but does not list everything on hand. If you need anything not listed we are always glad to have your want-list. We are deeply grateful for your past patronage which has enabled us to expand our stock to the point where we feel we carry one of the most complete stocks of Canada in the hands of any professional. While our stock of other BNA is not as complete we are continually building it up and pledge ourselves to do our best to serve you in anything you may need in B.N.A. In this list you will note that we do not list Blocks prior to 1912. We do however have quite a complete stock of Mint Blocks from 1870 on and a fair stock used blocks, as well as some plate number blocks. From 1927 to date we have a fairly complete stock of Plate Number Blocks.

CANADA

CONDITION

(Please read carefully)

Prices on Canadian stamps depend largely on condition. The increase in the number of "condition cranks" has necessitated the charging of 20% for extra well-centered stamps (premium to be figured on each individually with minimum premium 2c). If you insist on unhinged stamps 10% additional prior to 1912.

Definition of our Regular Conditions

Issues prior to 1912

"Fine" well-centered stamps (early issues up to 1870 considered fine if design intact at all points). Unused stamps will have full O.G.—used stamps will be nicely cancelled.

"Good" may not be quite as well-centered as "fine"—although this does not mean they are necessarily off-centered. Used stamps may not be quite as lightly cancelled.

Issues from 1912 to date
All stamps in very good to very fine condition.

TERMS

Postage extra under $1.00 cash with order. Remittance by Money Order or Currency preferred, and we will accept unused U. S. or Canada lower denominations at 6% discount, provided all stamps have full gum and no air mails or special deliveries are included. All offers subject to unsold and price change without notice, but every effort will be made to hold them good until next list appears. Satisfaction guaranteed unconditionally.

1851-58 Pence Issues *

Our stock of these is too limited to list. Send want-list for stamps not listed. We would be glad to have offers of any of these if in fine condition.

Broadway Chatter

By Bi Stander

"The Philatelic Trader," a London paper, mentions that A. F. McQuarrie of 161a Strand, London, England, is bankrupt. He it was who promised to supply covers and sets of Coronations to dealers in the United States and in many cases did not come through with them, creating quite some mix-up in deliveries.

We were astonished to see Bermuda #104 go up to $2 mint in Scott's 1938 catalogue. It would be well to pick up Barbados #180 and also #183 used. These are very hard to get.

The Hopewell, Va., post office was robbed on Sept. 30 of $8,000 in stamps. Three doors in the safe were cut through.

A dealer had a mint block of four that had a hinge so arranged on the upper pair that to try to pull it off bodily might have damaged the block. A collector who wanted one of the stamps was able, by using a sharp pen-knife, to cut the upper pair apart in a very deft and satisfactory manner.

In the "New York Times" of Oct. 3 an illustration of the prize winning $500 design was shown as the work of Elaine Rawlinson of New York. It is a very pleasing one and shows George Washington in profile on a 1-cent stamp. It reminds us of the King Edward VIII stamps of Great Britain for its simplicity, and we hope the U. S. government will eventually use this design though it was mentioned in the contest information that it was not obligatory for the government to use the winning designs.

Information as to the Bermuda air service by the post office here mentions the fact that mail is not carried on out-bound planes of the Imperial Airways or the Pan-American Clippers.

Boom in Colonials

Evidence from many directions indicates an unusual interest in the several fine pictorial sets that have been produced for British possessions during recent years with the Falkland Islands centenary issue leading the procession. This set of twelve stamps which had a face value of approximately $10 is being sought now at $80 with holders asking above $90. What an appreciation on the investment for those who bought the stamps back in 1933!

The Falklands really failed to get going until the last year. The 1937 Standard Catalogue listed the stamps at $57.50 but collectors were not fooled by that. Long before the 1938 edition skyrocketed quotations to $115.60 for the set, it was not to be obtained at anything like the old catalogue price. In fact, these stamps are so scarce that the price is expected to continue to climb until it reaches a level where demand will be outdistanced.

We note that other British Colonial commemorative sets are in unusual demand. A glance at the weekly bid sheet of the Mint Sheet Brokerage Company reveals that the Sierra Leone Wilberforce set is not being offered despite a published bid of $80. There are offers of $65 for the St. Kitts centenary and $20 for the St. Helena centenary but no supplies at that price.

Undoubtedly the Jubilees and Coronations have played an important part in pulling other colonial issues into demand in the United States where British colonials have long enjoyed a steady but hardly phenomenal patronage.

Precancel Stamp News

K. M. GIERHART, BALTIMORE, OHIO

Information on new issues and notes of interest to Precancel collectors should be addressed as above.

PATERSON, N. J.

When a precancel collector is sorting over a pile of precancels he invariably tosses to one side those that are "perf initialed." We want to admonish those who do this to go a little slow on their Paterson, N. J., local types. Especially the double line U-14 type. Most of the items in this type come perf initialed. The new Double Line catalogue takes cognizance of this fact and carries a lengthy note concerning this. If you want any double line items from Paterson in your collection you had better save those you come upon with perf initials. It is not impossible, I understand, to get them without the perfs but when they do come this way they should command a premium. The Double Line catalogue mentions the 1/2, 6, 7, and 9, as being found often enough without perf initials as NOT to command a premium, all others should be worth over catalogue quotation if not perf. initialed. In searching a recent lot I even noted several B71s perf. initialed from Paterson. Taking no chances at all, it seems, on anyone getting any good ones from this place.

LEBANON, PA.

I have come upon quite a few items from Lebanon in U-12 in the last few months and have puzzled at their non-existence in the new general catalogue. It seems to me that this type has been out long enough to have been included in the listing. U-120 is the last type listed. There always has been much confusion over the U-120 and the new U-12 types. Some claim that it is possible to take a U-120 plate (metal handstamp) and make it over into a plate to be used on a press. Others claim that new plates must be used. I don't know the truth and I wonder if there was not some little mix-up on this town as to the U-120 and U-12. Does anyone know any of the facts about these types from Lebanon?

NOTES

Have a card at hand from George Hawse of Washington, D. C. He mailed the card from Greenbelt, Md., sort of a first day cover as this office was just established there. George tells me of a meet to be held Nov. 7 in or around Washington, more particulars later.—The September BEE mentions that another copy of the Kansas City B51 perf. 11x11 has been found.

The Metro Messenger, publication of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company stamp club in New York, denounces the Virginia Dare stamp as a disgrace to the Post Office Department. It seems to be an open season on the commemorative.

CHRISTMAS CARDS FROM BETHLEHEM, PALESTINE

Naval Cancels — Cachets

By MARSHALL R. HALL.

ANCS 10
1767 Bedford Road, Columbus, Ohio

William Hirsh, 728-38 Howard avenue, Brooklyn, N. Y., writes that he will sponsor the following cachets: Navy day, three ships; Armistice day, three ships; Christmas, three ships, and New Year's, three ships. He asks that an extra five covers be sent for unexpected events. Include forwarding. (M)

In a past column, I noted R. E. Kneeshaw as handling covers on the Asiatic ships, and his address should have been the USS Pecos, care postmaster, San Francisco, Calif.

If you want a swell shore cancel, keep covers with John C. Gillespie, 512 Market street, Freeport, Pa., together with proper forwarding postage.

Raymond D. Sperry, former mail clerk on the Sirius, has been assigned to the USS San Francisco, and will handle covers for you as in the past, excepting that he is not the mail clerk. Address him at San Pedro, Calif.

An announcement of too much length and detail to be published here is being prepared for naval cancel collectors, whether members of the ANCS or other societies or not affiliated with any society. This will be ready shortly and has to do with matters that concern all of us in this hobby. If you will send me a No. 10 envelope, stamped and self-addressed, I will hold it until the printed reports come back and mail your copy promptly. It is something that is important.

Sales Manager Camille Lacombe of the ANCS, 1800 West Fayette street, Syracuse, N. Y., notifies the log editor that new circuits are ready and that all desiring same should drop him a card or letter. Tell him your specific desires. He will do the rest.

In conclusion, I want to thank J. C. Fahey for two grand covers of the old flagship, USS Tennessee, propelled by steam and sail, and mailed and cancelled in 1883 and 1884, with proper ship identification. Not many such covers are in existence.

It is reported President Roosevelt may be pictured on the stamp Guatemala intends to issue in tribute to the United States Constitution.

A representative of the Post Office Department will attend the East Aurora (N.Y.) Philatelic Society's exhibit Oct. 23. A buffet luncheon will be a feature.

A leading Chicago stamp dealer sent his stock of philatelic sheets to Europe in order to realize a higher price than can be obtained on the American market, according to the Straight Edge, publication of the Roosevelt Philatelic Society of Chicago.

Help Wanted

The publishers are interested in learning the names of all Department or Stationery stores as well as stores of other types that carry anything in the way of Philatelic Supplies in their stocks. We hope to have our readers supply us with names of such stores in their towns. We have a message for such stores as well as a message for our readers which we deliver now. We encourage collectors in any city or community to try to get some one of their local stores to stock a line of Philatelic Supplies, at least such accessories as are in constant demand by collectors. If collectors in comparatively small communities would get together, pick out a good likely store and suggest to the proprietor that he stock a small line of stamp supplies, the idea would be beneficial to the local collector as well as to the store. It would provide a local supply for the collector, of such things as Hinges and other small items that a collector is always buying. Do not encourage several stores to do this but concentrate your trade with a single store so that the business will be worth the attention of that store and so that the store will be able to continue the line and eventually add more items to it. Such a store could become the 'stamp collectors' center in every small town and would event-

Fair Warning

For some time past we have been calling attention to the fact that the circulation of this publication was growing to such a point that we were going to be obliged to raise the advertising rates to a point that would cover this additional cost of production. We have now passed the 20,000 copies weekly circulation and effective with our first issue for November, which by the way will be our birthday annual issue, the rates will advance. Next week we will publish the new rates. Advertisers who are now on contract with us and whose contract is about to expire may have the privilege of renewing their contract at the current rates for another 52 week period.

Get in touch with us at once, do not wait until it is too late and then make complaint.

Slow Mail

LINPRINT has received many complaints in the past months of the very slow handling of mail from this office. The complaints are mostly about small lots of envelopes for first day covers that are bought by various of our readers. A lot of but 6 or some small quantity of these covers does not make a bulky package and as a result we believe that such mailings are not handled as merchandise, which they certainly are, but as printed matter and as such the handling is very slow. We have frequent complaints of small parcels which have taken four or five days to go a couple hundred miles and from five days to a week to travel 500 to 1000 miles for delivery.

We publish this warning because others must experience the same slow delivery and collectors who want covers usually put it off till the last minute and frequently their orders arrive too late. For our part we have been able to fill orders on the day we receive them so we know that the delay is not our fault.

Big Space Profitable

This week we carry a four page advertisement for J. N. Sissons of Toronto, Canada. Space of this sort can not help but bring business to a dealer who has such a remarkable array of choice Canadian and British North American stamps as are offered by Mr. Sissons. For years past, next to our own United States issues, the stamps of Canada have been popular with American collectors.

Stamp Shows

The season of annual stamp shows and exhibitions is now at hand. Collectors and clubs who are interested in promoting a show in their city should inquire about the special display posters for exhibitions that are now being offered by LINPRINT, INC. Also ask about the special Award Cards which are much more attractive and useful than ribbon awards. Our big new 32 page catalogue of Philatelic Accessories includes these new items as well as many other new ideas from our fast growing accumulation of Philatelic helps for clubs and collectors.
